CAMP SHELBY JOINT FORCES TRAINING CENTER

Hattiesburg, Mississippi, USA

JANUARY

■ It is a celebration to be surrounded by Family and friends while being recognized for enduring efforts and outstanding achievements.

■ The joyous feelings that Lt. Col. Timothy Damianco, deputy commander of mobilization at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center was experiencing on Jan. 11 when he was promoted to the rank of colonel. He was surrounded by his immediate Family; wife Sharon, daughter Isabella and son Ryan, as well as his mother JoAnn Giles on Tuesday.

■ “I have always been a Soldier. The motto ‘Soldier’s First’ fits me. I enlisted in 1979 and I never thought that 31 years later I would still be doing this job,” said Damico.

■ Camp Shelby’s new east gate entrance officially opened Jan. 24.

“New gate is aesthetically pleasing and professional. It’s something that Camp Shelby should be proud of,” said Creekmore Wright, CSJFTC director of public safety.

FEBRUARY

■ Congressman Steven Palazzo, who also serves as an active drilling member of the Mississippi Army National Guard, was sworn into Congress on January 5, 2011 for the start of his first term in Congress, representing Mississippi’s 4th District. He serves on the House Armed Services Committee as well as the Science, Space and Technology Committee.

When Congressman Palazzo reports to drill at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center he continues to serve Mississippi as Sgt. Palazzo in the position of budget analyst and base auditor for CSJFTC’s Finance department.

■ On March 10, CSJFTC held its grand opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony for what was once called a PX, Past Exchange, and sometimes troop store, but now it will be known simply as “The Exchange.”

March

■ On March 10, CSJFTC held its grand opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony for what was once called a PX, Past Exchange, and sometimes troop store, but now it will be known simply as “The Exchange.”

■ This year’s first Guard/Reserve facility in the world to display our new Exchange sign, the big red, white and blue X,” said Maj. Gen. Bruce Casella, commanding general of Army and Air Force Exchange Service.

■ There are only three other exchanges which have the new Exchange logo – Tinker, Bliss and Kaiserslautern.

“New logo is designed to foster a lifelong relationship with our customers. The differing exterior signs of BX for Air Force and PX for Army will be replaced by one X. Now we are all ‘The Exchange,’” said Casella.

■ The Mississippi Army National Guard’s Soldier of the Year competition has been held here at the Regional Training Institute at Camp Shelby for many years. The competition is for those Soldiers who are considered to be the ‘best of the best.’

■ Winners of this year’s competition were Sgt. Steven Brewer of the 2 Battalion 154 Regional Training Institute Regiment; Active Guard Reserve of the Year, Sgt. Nakomus Oliver of 2 Battalion 198 HBOC, NCO of the Year, and Spc. Jason Young, of the 1 Battalion 198th HHT Soldier of the Year.

■ The buses rolled in carrying the 55-member 2-185th Aviation unit of Southaven home to demobilize at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center on March 7.

■ Emotions ranged from smiles, tears and cheers as Soldiers and loved ones embraced for the first time in 10 months after the completion of their deployment to Iraq in support of Overseas Contingency Operations.

What are your goals for 2012?

I trust that everyone had a wonderful holiday and took advantage of some cherished time with Family and friends. During the holidays I had an opportunity to escape to a favorite hobby of deer hunting.

As the sunrise crept over the tops of the trees to create a picturesque view from my deer stand, I had a chance to reflect on the accomplishments and challenges of 2011 and think about my goals for the New Year.

I am grateful to all of you for your continued hard work and dedication to the mission of mobilizing and demobilizing Soldiers.

As we welcome the New Year, I challenge each of you to set goals for yourself and your team.

As we embrace the New Year, ask yourself the following questions. Are you always setting the standard in mission readiness? Are you empowering others to set and achieve goals to enhance their life? I challenge you to make a difference in your life and those that surround you in 2012.

It is time to pick up the pace at CSJFTC as we prepare to welcome the 27th Infantry Brigade Combat Team, New York Army National Guard and various specialized units that will be mobilizing during the upcoming spring months.

Ensure that we provide them the same standard of excellence in training and support that Camp Shelby is known for providing.

ike Bob managed to take the straightforward path to his desired wilderness and walked with purpose. He had been hiking alone, but he knew his family was counting on him. He also knew there were obstacles along the way, but he was prepared for them.

When he reached his destination, he realized that he had made some missteps along the way. However, he had a map and he knew how to use it. He had also learned from his experiences and was prepared for the next time he went hiking.

In life, we all face challenges and obstacles. It is important to have a plan and to be prepared for what may come. We should also be open to learning from our experiences and adjusting our plans as needed.

By CMD. SGT. MAJ. STEVEN CHANCELLOR
CSJFTC Command Sergeant Major

First, I would like to start by saying I hope everyone had a blessed Christmas and a happy New Year. I trust all of you had a safe holiday and enjoyed spending time with your Families.

Thank you again for a tremendous first year as Camp Shelby’s Post Command Sergeant Major.

It has been a very rewarding year and I appreciate all of the support from each of the directorates and civilian employees who make it possible in providing great leadership and training here at Camp Shelby.

Some of us may have become a little relaxed over the holidays with physical training.

As members of the United States Army and the Mississippi Army National Guard, we are an organization of standards and discipline. Maintaining height and weight and performing the APFT to standard are a must for each Soldier in the U.S. Army and National Guard.

The next scheduled annual APFT is in May and I encourage each of you to start preparing. NCOs make sure that your team is strong physically and mentally.

As NCOs, we should diligently live up to The NCO Creed, The Soldiers Creed and The Army Values.

The two most important responsibilities of an NCO are mission accomplishment and the welfare of our Soldiers. NCOs, ensure you are upholding the Army’s standard by maintain discipline, government property and training Soldiers.

Ensure that your personnel’s quarterly counselings are scheduled and completed.

It is important that NCOERs are on track for completion and that all personnel are seeking career advancement opportunities through civilian and military education.

As we embark on new challenges in January, always remember safety during extreme weather conditions. Be aware of icy roads while traveling and training.

Ensure your team’s alert rosters are updated and an inclement weather plan is in place.

Ensure that you continue the standard of excellence while completing the mobilization operations for the 37th Infantry Brigade Combat Team of the Ohio Army National Guard, the 230th Sustainment Brigade of the Tennessee Army National Guard and also the 116th Infantry Brigade Combat Team of the Virginia Army National Guard.

Get ready to welcome the 27th Infantry Brigade Combat Team of the New York Army National Guard and ensure they receive the same standard of excellence that we are known for.

Thanks team for your continued hard work and steadfast attitude for success.

God bless you, your Families and this great Country.

NCOs lead the way!

This Week’s ANSWERS

Place a number in the empty boxes in such a way that each row across, each column down and each small 9-box square contains all of the numbers from one to nine.

DIFFICULTY THIS WEEK: ★ ★ ★★☆

Unscramble these twelve letter strings to form each into an ordinary word (ex. HAGNEC becomes CHANCE). Prepare to use only ONE word from any unscrambled letter string as each unscramble is more than one word long. ♥RATHE becomes HATER or EARTH or HEART. Fit each string’s word either across or down to knot all twelve strings together.

OCTOBER

- Jacob B. Scott of Pascagoula was awarded the Purple Heart award at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center in Hattiesburg on Oct. 15 for injuries sustained in Iraq during his active military service in 2003 as a Specialist in the U.S. Army.
- Scott served his country as a member of Bravo Company, 396th Engineer Battalion of the Mississippi Army National Guard during Operation Iraqi Freedom as a M249 SAW Gunner on the unit’s Quick Reaction Force (QRF).
- The month of October kicked off the Southern Mississippi Combined Federal Campaign for this year.
- Brett Favre, Mississippi native and retired NFL quarterback, visited soldiers of the 1st Battalion, 134th Field Artillery Regiment at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center on Oct. 25. Favre made the surprise visit in support of Task Force Roc, Ohio Army National Guard, as they continue their mobilization training before deploying in support of Overseas Contingency Operations.

NOVEMBER

- In honor of Veterans Day and Military Appreciation Day at the University of Southern Mississippi, Toyota of Hattiesburg and the USM Athletics department passed out more than 1,000 free tickets to the USM versus the University of Central Florida football game at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center on Nov. 8.
- Hundreds gathered in downtown Hattiesburg to observe the 29th annual Veterans Day Service at Veterans Memorial Park on Nov. 11.
- Welcome by Hattiesburg Mayor Johnny DePrez and Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center Installation Commander Col. Steve Parham, spectators cheered as local high schools, civic organizations, veterans groups and the University of Southern Mississippi’s Pride of Southern Mississippi marching band paraded down Hardy Street to honor America’s military men and women, past and present.
- “It’s overwhelming to see such a large crowd come out to celebrate this wonderful day in support of our veterans,” said Parham.
- Elements of the Mississippi National Guard’s 1–204th Air Defense Artillery Battalion, headquartered in Newton, Miss., were welcomed home recently from the Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center.
- “We’re releasing approximately 70 Soldiers today in coordination with the Camp Shelby Mobilization Operations Center, so that we can send them home with their Families in time for Thanksgiving,” said Chaplain (Maj.) Madison Kelly. “Our guys have traveled a long way in the last 18 hours, and we really appreciate the support we received from the Camp Shelby MOC in making this happen.”
- The U. S. Army Reserve’s 380th Engineer Support Company head-quartered in Greenville, Miss., returned home Nov. 28. They arrived at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center to be welcomed by Brig. Gen. Douglas R. Satterfield, Deputy Commander, 412th Theater Engineer Command, Family and friends.
- The unit deployed to Iraq earlier this year in support of Operation New Dawn, where they supported the mission of United States Forces in Iraq by maintaining and supporting Iraq transportation infrastructure and providing horizontal engineer support to coalition contingency out bases, or COBs, through the construction of defensive positions and public works facilities.
- The official ribbon cutting event to commemorate the grand opening of the new Minuteman Building was held at Camp Shelby Joint Forces Training Center, Nov. 18.
- The building is designed to achieve a U.S. Green Building Council or USGBC LEED Silver rating with a variety of “green” amenities to include electric vehicle charging stations in the barracks parking lot, energy efficient fixtures and recycling availability. Additional amenities include private rooms, private bath, TV in room, laundry room, handicap accessibility, elevator and coming soon, internet capability.
- “It is a beautiful morning to share this dedication and official opening of this new high rise building,” said Col. Steve Parham, CSJFTC Post Commander. This project was originally commissioned in response to the tornado of March 2008 where four barracks buildings, one general officer quarters building and a battalion supply building were destroyed by the storm. Construction began in 2008 and was completed this past August by Hanco Corporation, located in Hattiesburg.
